FOR a chance to see a different view of Sydney, check out this amazing free exhibition. Photographer Peter Murphy has produced a series of novel stereoscopic multimedia images and panoramic time-lapse videos for Model City. Much of his work details daily urban life, focusing on city buskers, construction workers and partygoers. There are also some beach images. All of the pictures are suitable for children, so this is a great opportunity for the family to soak up the Christmas vibe in the city.
