Notes for completing the PC Appointment form

Note 1
The Building Professionals Act 2005 (NSW) says the City must not carry out certification work for a person, such as accepting an appointment to be the principal certifier (PC) or to issue an occupation certificate, unless it has entered into a written contract with that person.

If you have not already entered into a contract with Council to undertake the PC functions, such as at the time of lodging a construction certificate or complying development certificate application, you must complete and sign a Contract for Certification Work and attach it to this form.

NOTE: The appointment form cannot be processed until you attach a signed Contract for Certification Work. When the form, together with the Contract, is lodged the Contract will be executed (signed by an authorised officer of Council) and a copy will be forwarded to you for your records.

Note 2
If you have not had plans and specifications of relevant fire safety systems* endorsed as part of your complying development certificate or construction certificate approval, before installing, extending or modifying a relevant fire safety system, plans and specifications for the work must be certified as being compliant through the lodgement of a compliance certificate or endorsed by a competent fire safety practitioner and submitted to the City acting as the principal certifying authority (PCA) for endorsement.

* relevant fire safety system means any of the following:
(a) a hydraulic fire safety system (fire sprinkler suppression system; hydrant; hose reel);
(b) a fire detection and alarm system;
(c) a mechanical ducted smoke control system.

 compliance certificate is a certificate under Division 6.5 of the Environmental Planning and Assessment Act 1979 which is issued by a person who is appropriately accredited under the Building Professionals Act.

 competent fire safety practitioner is a professional and/or technical person that has specialist fire safety skills. The NSW government is presently working on establishing a co-regulatory framework for recognising industry schemes for accrediting individuals as competent fire safety practitioners. In the interim, certifying authorities (including the City) must ensure that the person who performs one of the new functions is competent, and to confirm this in writing. This will require practitioners to complete an application form (contact the City’s Construction and Building Certification Services Unit to obtain the form) and lodge with the PC appointment form for endorsement.
